Reunion of Company H, 7th Pennsylvania Infantry.

THE FIRST DEFENDERS

Held at Little Old Historic Boalsburg on Saturday, Oct. 19, A Day Long to be Remembered.

COL. GRENO THE GUEST OF HONOR

[Reported exclusively for the Republican.]

The 19th day of October dawned bright and fair. The day, rare as it was beautiful, was destined to become memorable in the annals of the quaint old town of Boalsburg. There was unusual stir in the village that day as a reunion of the "First Defenders," a company of militiamen that went from there in 61 met in the town hall to tell again their experiences while in the service of Uncle Sam.

In Baum's large hall with four good spirited horses fourteen old soldiers and a press representative were taken over the hills to this historic little town. When they entered the village they were met by a large company of comrades. The parade formed on a side street near where the Old Stone Church stood at which place many young men enlisted in the service during those dark days, it moved down Main street counter-marched and then to the Public Hall. When the old soldiers were entering the building a large choir of ladies and gentlemen began singing "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean." Boalsburg is noted for its pretty women, good singing, brave soldiers and patriotism, and on this occasion everyone of the four subjects were prominent. The singing was simply beautiful. The large hall which was crowded with men women and children was decorated very pretty with the national colors. On one side of the stage hung an oil painting of Captain Boal under which were the remnants of the old flag this company carried away with them. On the other side of the stage hung the sword and sabre of Col. Robert McFarlane. Three relics that are cherished more than gold and silver by the descendants of these brave men who have long answered the call to the better world.

After the singing of the beautiful hymn mentioned above, Comrade Hook, of Boalsburg, a member of this famous company introduced Col. Greno, of Cincinnati who made an earnest, prayer invoking God's blessing on the old soldiers and friends. Rev. A. A. Black who in words of kindness, cordially welcomed the old boys to Boalsburg.

The response to the address of welcome was made by Clement Dale, Esq., of Bellefonte.

Capt. S. H. Williams nominated Col. Greno the guest of honor president of the organization. He was elected by acclamation. On account of Col. Greno being a stranger to a great many, commander W. H. Mosser filled this position during the meeting in a most acceptable manner. After singing that glorious old hymn "Star Spangled Banner" the morning session closed. Dinner was in order then. The members of this famous company and the press representative were guests of Mr. Theodore Boal who entertained them in royal style at the Tavern. The proprietor Peter Ishler and his good wife and daughters had prepared a feast fit for a king. Everything tasted so good and was gotten up in a manner that was commendable and a great credit to the persons who had a hand in preparing it. After dinner Mr. Boal passed the cigars around, another treat that was enjoyed.

The afternoon session began at 1.30 when the choir sang "Have you got the Countersign," after which Miss Margaret Goben a charming young lady of Boalsburg delivered a recitation. She is a splendid elocutionist and the rendition of this story brought many tears to the eyes of the old soldiers.

The Venerable George Armstrong Jacobs who was Orderly Sergeant of this famous company when they left Boalsburg in 61, was present but today he is very feeble as he has passed his 84th milestone in life. He was called upon to make an address which was as follows:

FRIENDS AND COMRADES—Patriotic Boalsburg is the birth-place of five, and possibly six, military organizations, namely: "Boalsburg Rifle-men," Captain James Dunlop; "Penns Valley Cadets," Capt. Lott Irvin, Capt. Jonathan Shaffer, Capt. Geo. Kepler, and last, but not least, General James Brisbin; "Cameron Guards," Capt. Robert McFarlane; "Company G," 148 P. V. Capt. Robert McFarlane and "Company C," 23d. Reg. F. V. First Lieut. G. A. Jacobs.

Forty-six years ago last April when the war clouds of that awful Rebellion broke over our homes and Fort Sumpter was fired upon, defenders of the Union were called for by President Lincoln. A meeting was held here in the Lutheran Church for the purpose of answering that call and the "Cameron Guards," recruited to 108 men. Captain McFarlane and your humble servant were not reduced to ranks. John Boal was elected First Lieutenant by acclamation; William H. Riley was chosen Second Lieutenant.

Now we are ready for that dreadful morning that tried mens souls, when Father and Mother, Brother and Sister, Husband and Wife and our dear children had to part, not knowing whether we would ever meet here again. At last we got started and after we got to Harrisburg part of our boys were transferred to Capt. John Stover's company, 9th. Reg. P. V. We stayed there until that Dutch boy told the officer which arm of the service he was drilled in at home. Next we were taken to Chambersburg and remained there until Senator Harpster got his Artillery in good shape for action from thence we marched to Green Castle (left Griffin in the Hospital there) and then proceeded to Williamsport. The next morning "Griffin," having deserted the hospital, hooked a musket and tramped his way through a rebel country, between the two days, reported to our Capt. for duty. Then we crossed the Potomac, thence to St. James College, thence to Bunker Hill, thence to Bunker Hill, thence to Charleston, thence to the Old Mill, thence homeward to Hagerstown, thence to Harrisburg, and from there home to Old Centre.

Now forty-six years have passed and gone and a little band of the survivors of old "Company H" are here again in Boalsburg on this 19th day of October to talk old times over.

The Badge of Honor Worn
By Them To-day.

Others who made addresses during the afternoon were the following comrades, Greno, of Cincinnati; S. H. Williams, D. F. Fortney, Minich, Harpster, W. H. Mosser, John I. Cortin, Wertz, Stuart, Patterson, Eckenroth, Lytle, Cramer and Reed. Comrade Harpster sang a beautiful solo entitled "We've Drank From the Same Canteen."

Seven little girls dressed in white carrying Old Glory sang "Beautiful Flag of the Brave."

The meeting closed by the singing of "When the Roll is called up Yonder I'll be there."

ELKS IN BELLEFONTE

Lodge No. 1094 Benevolent Protective Order of Elks Organized

MANY GUESTS PRESENT

From All Over the State—Frank Nagin, Exalted Ruler—Grand Banquet Held at the Brockerhoff House.

ENROLLMENT OF 68 NEW MEMBERS

Never before has Bellefonte gathered together a better set of fellows than on Wednesday when Lodge No. 1094 Benevolent Protective Order of Elks was organized here. It was certainly a notable event in the history of some of our citizens who now know more about the workings of a secret order than they ever did in their lives. The degree team and the entire and the entire lodge of Elks from Lock Haven, Lewisburg, Tyrone, Johnstown, Pittsburg, Williamsport, Renovo and Pittston.

At 2 o'clock the regular initiative ceremony took place under the direction of District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler, A. R. Markus, of Pittston. He is an able and efficient officer and presided with the dignity that always characterizes a true and noble Elk.

The lodge in Bellefonte opens with the brightest of prospects for a successful future with an enrollment of 68 charter members, made up of the representative citizens of the town and county.

During the evening session which began at 8 o'clock the following gentlemen were elected officers of the Bellefonte Lodge.

Exalted Ruler—Frank E. Nagin.
Elected Loyal Knight—Arthur B. Kropf.
Esteemed Leading Knight—Sim Baum.
Secretary—Charles T. Noll.
Treasurer—M. A. Jackson.
Esteemed Lecturing Knight—Dr. J. J. Kilpatrick.
Trustee—R. B. Taylor, 1 year.
" —John L. Knisely, 2 years.
" —W. C. Cassidy, 3 years.
Esquire—Dr. M. J. Locke.
Tyler—Homer Barnes.
Inside Guard—H. L. Garber.
Chaplain—James H. Corl.

After the business of the order had transacted the Bellefonte members and their many guests went to the Brockerhoff House where a delightful banquet was held at 11.30. The large dining room was beautifully arranged for this glorious affair and for over two hours the one hundred and twenty-five guests partook of the good things to eat mine host Ray had prepared.

It was a jolly, good natured crowd who enthused the spirit of Elksdom in everything that was done.

J. S. McCarger the Prince of Toast Master filled this position in a most acceptable manner. He introduced Hon. John G. Love, District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler, A. R. Markus of Pittston, Captain W. A. Simpson of Lock Haven and others as speakers of the evening.

The guests present from a distance were the following gentlemen: George Kramer, Lock Haven. Chas. Robb, Lock Haven. James Krom, Lock Haven. H. M. Shaffer, Lock Haven. Henry Myers, Williamsport. Max Seidheimer, Williamsport. A. R. Markus, Pittston. C. L. Howard, Jersey Shore. J. A. Simon, Lock Haven. C. W. Bellier, Allentown. C. W. Shaffer, Lock Haven. E. B. O'Reilly, Lock Haven. Geo. MacDonald, Lock Haven. E. L. Hoover, Lock Haven. R. J. Solt, Lock Haven. Robert Lanth, Lock Haven. Wm. Brendel, Lock Haven. R. H. Stewart, Lock Haven. W. F. Cope, Lock Haven.

Judge W. S. Harris, Lock Haven. E. Hoover, Lock Haven. George Smull, Smul ton. H. A. Leinhardt, Lock Haven. Fred Reese is a regular second Charley Depeew at making an after dinner speech.

Lloyd Stover enjoyed the banquet better than any other person there even if he did have to go out with Johnie Sourbeck, and the other bucks between courses.

When America was played by the Orchestra every man joined in and heartily sang the grand old hymn.

COUNCIL MEETING. Held Monday Evening in the City Hall.

The borough council met on Monday evening with President Keller in the chair and the following members present, Kirk, Shuey, Wagner, Beezer, Judge, Hamiton, Derstine.

Burgess Curtin has vetoed the Pruner Orphanage Ordinance giving his reasons therefor.

The street committee reported completion of work on Bishop street. Now working on Howard street.

The market committee turned in $2.40 market fees.

The Fire and Police committee reported that a man had escaped from the new steel cell in the Lock-up. The party was caught and heavily fined.

Dr. Kirk moved that the ordinance appointing a Board of managers for the Pruner Orphanage be passed over the Burgess veto. It was seconded by Mr. Shuey. Mr. Keller put the question stating that he did not believe however that it was legal. The vote stood 6 to 2 in favor of the Orphanage.

The side walk on South Water St. in front of S. D. Ray's property was complained of and the clerk was ordered to notify him.

The Street Committee recommended an incandescent light be authorized to be placed at the intersection of Penn and Logan streets.

The burning of rubbish in the yard back of the Bellefonte Club was complained of by residents of Petrusen Hall. It is said to be dangerous. They will be notified to abate the trouble if one exists.

The following bills were approved and orders drawn.

Taylor—Shell.

Reynolds Taylor of Bellefonte and Miss Lucy Beryl Shell were the contracting parties at a beautiful wedding at the home of bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Shell, of Williamsport, Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock. Rev. Walter G. Steel performed the ceremony in the presence of about one hundred invited guests. Mr. Harry Hogmire and wife of Altoona, were the attendants. The bride and her attendants were beautifully gowned in white Paris moneline and carried exquisite bouquets of roses. The groom and his attendant wore the conventional black. The bride was the recipient of many elegant presents. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion. After the ceremony a delicious supper was served and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor departed on the evening train for a tour of eastern cities, after which they will reside in McKeesport, where the groom is an experienced electrician. Guests were present from Pittsburg, Bellefonte, Harrisburg and Huntingdon.

Long—Miller.

Edward Long, of Tyrone, and Miss Evelyn Mabel Miller, of Birmingham, were married at St. Matthew's parsonage, Tyrone, last Saturday evening, Rev. G. M. Kelly, the pastor, performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Long have come to Bellefonte to make their future home.

Heverly—Cole

Miss Mary Cole was married to Mr. Augustus Heverly this morning at 11 o'clock at Harrisburg, by Rev. George Israel Brown rector of the Episcopal church at Harrisburg.

MACCABEES HAVE BANQUET

They Celebrated their First Anniversary on Thursday Evening.

SERVED IN ROYAL STYLE

The Jolly Hive of Bees Banqueted at the Beautiful Cafe of Mr. Blackford's on Bishop Street

FORTY FIVE PLATES WERE SET

A delightful anniversary banquet was held at Blackford's New Cafe Thursday evening at nine o'clock when forty-five of themselves Busy Bees of Bellefonte Tent Knights of the Maccabees celebrated the ending of the first year of this already well known organization that started so auspiciously a year ago in September.

The pretty new restaurant was well lighted and two long tables decorated with flowers were surrounded by the Sir Knights. Mine host Sir Knight Blackford certainly did himself proud with the fine menu which was served by a very efficient corps of waiters.

The menu which was sipped so enthusiastically by the Bees comb, honey and all consisted as follows:

Gam Chowder	With Parsley
Sour Pickles	Blue Points
Olives	Deviled Crab Patties
Celery	Roast Spring Chicken
Browned Sweets	Roast Pork
Lettuce	Nesselrode Ice Cream
Assorted Cakes	Fruit
Quefort Cheese	Cigars
	Pint Cracker

During the interludes between the courses delightful music was played by Dietrick's famous orchestra of six pieces.

When coffee and cigars arrived, Toastmaster Past Commander Hard P. Harris arose and after a few felicitous remarks introduced Sir Knight Col. Hugh S. Taylor who spoke of the phenomenal success of the organization.

Sir Knight District Attorney Wm. G. Runkle talked on the grand insurance benefits of the order.

Deputy Great Commander Geo. T. Bush the Record and Finance Keeper talked on the finances of the order the membership, and the enthusiasm of the members in advancing the interests of the organization. Chaplain John C. Rumberger spoke of the fellowship and social side.

Commander H. Laird Curtin on the attendance and faithfulness to the order of members.

The following each said a few words: V. J. Bauer, Wm. H. Miller, Fred C. Reese, Frank Bartley, Jno. M. Sourbeck and Samuel Ray. At 11 a rising vote of thanks was given Sir Knight Blackford for the excellent menu served and the assemblage dispersed for their homes after singing Auld Lang Syne accompanied by the orchestra.

Six new applications were received at their last meeting on Wednesday evening and many more are promised. The prosperity of the order is attracting would be Bees to the hive especially since they are going to have such a fine new hive of their own in their commodious quarters being fixed up in the McClain Block.

NOTES.

Just one year ago Thursday Mr. W. H. Phillips of Philadelphia, organized this order in Bellefonte. Only one or two men have dropped out since then and they are now applying to be re-installed.

When Col. Taylor arrived at the banquet he was greeted by a hearty applause from those seated around the tables.

Hard P. Harris seems to be right at home as a Toast-master. He filled the position in a most acceptable manner.

John Sourbeck could hardly eat any of the good things as he was continually feasting on a picture that hung on the wall. Curt Taylor was in the same boat.

Mr. Blackford can well be called the Prince of Caterers, as this outlay on Thursday evening was gotten up in Royal style. He deserves great credit for the manner in which he conducted the banquet.

ACADEMY 6, DICKINSON SEMINARY 6

Academy Holds this Strong Team Down to a Tie Score.

Those who went out to the glass work meadows on Saturday afternoon and watched the battle royal between the heavy Dickinson Seminary eleven from Williamsport and the lighter Bellefonte Academy team surely got the worth of their money for no more exciting or more interesting or more plucky football has ever been witnessed on a Bellefonte gridiron. The Dickinson boys are older and more experienced than the home boys and have the pronounced advantage of a regular professional coach to train them daily. They defeat such teams as Wyoming Seminary, Bloomsburg Normal and Mansfield Normal each year and naturally came here Saturday expecting to defeat the Academy as one of their players announced, by a score of 20-0. Did they do it? Well, I guess not. Though it looked during the first ten minutes of play as if such a score might be made the weight and experience of the visitors effecting such big gains that a touchdown and goal were soon scored, yet the grit and pluck of the Academy team were thoroughly aroused after this score and they spoiled again and again the chances of Dickinson to increase their score. In fact the Academy rushed the ball by clever work to within one yard of the goal line but were unable to rush it over the line.

The first half therefore ended 6-0 in favor of the visitors. The Academy team got their heads together during the intermission and decided that they could and would at least tie the score and they did so, Elsey gaining possession of a fumbled punt and rushing like a deer down the field, evading a Dickinson player here and another there, until he crossed the line and touched the ball down right between the goal posts, from which Pantall kicked a beautiful goal. It is needless to say that the players and supporters of the home team made Rome howl. At this point Elsey was the hero of the hour and was carried about on the shoulders of the Academy "rooters" who were in evidence all day with the encouraging cheers and songs for victory. A large crowd witnessed the sport. Many paid the price of admission. Those who attend, these games spongers appear much smaller than the 25-cent piece they refuse to pay. The game was an open one and full of spectacular plays. The score after 55 minutes of play remained a tie of 6-6 which the Academy regards as a victory.

Base Ball Plunger Scoops in Over $42,000.

Shad Gwilliam of Pittsburg won $42,000 when the Chicago National club took the World's championship series this year. The night before the series started he made up a pool in the Annex auditorium, Chicago of $50,000, which he placed against $42,000 of Detroit money. The only bet he failed to win was $5,000 on the first game, he betting on Chicago. The game was a draw.

On the first championship series between Pittsburg and Boston Gwilliam lost $29,000 backing Pittsburg. Gwilliam 15 years ago was a steel worker in the Carnegie Steel company's mills. Today he is the largest plunger on base ball in the country.

Commissioner Weaver Sick.

For almost a month County Commissioner C. A. Weaver has not been able to attend to his official duties at the court house owing to serious illness. About a month ago he was taken ill and for the past three weeks has been confined to his home at Coburn, from an attack of typhoid fever. He has been a very sick man naturally from this ailment but at no time was his condition considered critical. At this time there is every hope for his recovery and he is receiving every possible attention, so that we expect to see him back again at his accustomed place in the course of a few weeks.

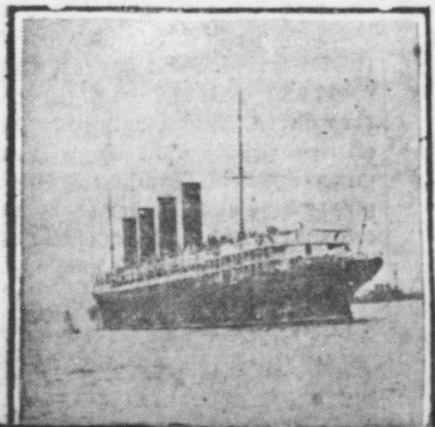

The New Ocean Queen Lusitania

NOT in a long time has so much interest been shown in the voyage of an ocean liner as was evinced in the maiden trip of the great turbine steamship Lusitania of the Cunard line, which ended her first Atlantic passage on the morning of Sept. 13, reaching Sandy Hook at 8:05 a. m., 5 days and 54 minutes after leaving Queenstown.

The best previous record for the same trip was made by the Cunard liner Lucania, which ran from Queenstown to Sandy Hook in 5 days, 7 hours and 23 minutes. Thus the Lusitania beat her sister ship by over six hours. The Lusitania made her fastest day's run on her fourth day out, when her record for the day was 593 nautical miles, an average for the day of 23.86. Her average speed for the trip was 23.01.

The performance of the Lusitania is considered the more remarkable on account of its being her first voyage across the ocean, and it is believed that when her engineers have a chance to get better acquainted with her great turbine engines she will eclipse her recent record. By the use of turbine engines the Lusitania is given a maximum of motive power with a minimum of strain and vibration in operation.

She passed over the ocean so smoothly that there was very little seasickness on board, and in spite of the great speed she was making the vibration was so small that most of the time a game of billiards could have been played on the ship without special inconvenience. She is the biggest and, as her owners believe, the fastest ocean liner afloat. She is 790 feet, or over a seventh of a mile, in length and 88 feet in breadth. Twice up and down the length of her decks makes a promenade of over half a mile. If placed in Broadway, New York, at the postoffice the ship would reach from St. Paul's chapel to Warren street, five blocks, and on account of her great beam would crush the federal building and other structures on the

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distress in stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms and conditions, are Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That this is absolutely true will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will mail a postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his booklet of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicines and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them.

feet and her draft fully loaded 37 feet 6 inches. Her displacement on load draft is 45,000 tons. To the top of her funnels from the keel is a distance of 155 feet, and from the same part of the ship to the top of the trucks is 216 feet. She carries a crew of from 800 to 900, and her passenger accommodation is as follows: First class, 550; second class, 500; third class, 1,300; total, 2,350, and total number of persons that may be carried on board, 3,250.

Much has been said about the enormous power of the turbine engines of the Lusitania. The combined horsepower of her engines is 68,000, and her furnaces eat up about 1,000 tons of coal a day while on a voyage.

The Lusitania has not yet succeeded in wresting the transatlantic speed laurels from her big rivals of the German lines. For a single day's run the 601 miles logged by the Deutschland of the Hamburg-American line still remain the high mark for one day's steaming, while the Deutschland's record of 23.51 miles an hour as the average speed for her run from Eddystone light to Sandy Hook on her famous September voyage four years ago has not yet been equaled by the Cunard liner, and the Kaiser Wilhelm II. of the North German Lloyd line is credited with an average of 23.58 miles for her westward voyage in June, 1904.

The commander of the Lusitania is Captain James B. Watt. On arrival in New York he said:

"I have experienced the crowning event of my life in bringing without a hitch this great ship with its hundreds of passengers across the Atlantic with comfort to all on board and without the slightest mishap during the voyage."

"When the manufacturer harnesses a stream," remarked the observer of events and things, "the sportsman stops whipping it."—Yonkers Statesman.

FRANK MINISTER WU.

The Shrewd Chinese Diplomat and His Interesting Ways.

The return of Wu Ting Fang to this country as the representative of the Chinese emperor has been ascribed in part to the popularity he achieved with the American people and especially with the American press. Although he is not of very high rank and has not held other diplomatic posts of first importance, he won a reputation while in America before as a diplomat of no mean ability. His course during the Boxer insurrection especially commended him to the government and people of this country as a man of force, character and integrity. His sense of humor has often been a help to Minister Wu and has sometimes helped him out of embarrassing situations.

The Celestial diplomat takes after the late Li Hung Chang in being a good questioner. He is sometimes inquisitive, too, in respect to matters which Americans generally regard as their private affairs. Unmarried women are usually afraid of him. He invariably asks them why they don't get married. If he meets a married woman he asks her how many children she has, and if she has none at all he expresses surprise and wants to know the reason. One day during his previous service at Washington Minister Wu was visited by a newspaper correspondent who seemed to regard himself as a great man. Before he had learned anything whatever from the minister the latter was plying him with his usual questions. When the query as to the amount of his weekly stipend was put the correspondent heaved up his chest, stroked his mustache with pride and prepared to astonish the simple Celestial.

"One hundred and fifty dollars a week!" he exclaimed.

"It is too much," came quick as a shot from the minister's lips; "it is altogether too much. You are not worth more than $25 a week."

Later on, by dint of cross examination of other newspaper men, Mr. Wu learned that his $150 a week visitor had prevaricated to the extent of about $90 the week. The next time this gentleman called at the legation and sent his card to the minister he was accorded an audience, but the first thing the minister said to him was:

"You lied to me about your salary. If you will lie about such a thing as that you will lie about anything. I do not trust you. I have nothing to tell you. I want to revise my former estimate of your value. Instead of being worth $25 a week you are not worth anything, sir. Good day."

LEWIS S. CHANLER.

Lieutenant Governor of New York, Who Is Mentioned For President.

The talk of Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler of New York as a candidate for president in 1908 on the Democratic ticket has occasioned renewed interest in the personality of the man who was chosen lieutenant governor of the Empire State in 1906 despite the defeat sustained by William Randolph Hearst as the head of the ticket. When Mr. Hearst was nominated for governor of New York by the Independence league Mr. Chanler was made his running mate, and when later on the Democratic convention met and also chose

LEWIS STUYVESANT CHANLER.

Mr. Hearst to head his ticket it put Mr. Chanler on for the place of lieutenant governor, the same office for which he had been named by the Independence league. The returns showed the election of the Republican candidate for governor, Charles E. Hughes, by a plurality of 57,897. Nevertheless Mr. Chanler defeated the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, being chosen to that office by a plurality of 5,574. Various circumstances contributed to bring about this result, but it is maintained by Mr. Chanler's friends that he showed remarkable strength as a vote getter.

He comes of a family of millionaires and has enjoyed the advantages of wealth from childhood up, yet has chosen to array himself on the side of the people wherever any conflicts between corporate and class interests and those of the masses have arisen and has devoted years of his life to study of sociological and economic conditions to fit himself for work in behalf of their improvement.

Born in that center of fashion, Newport, thirty-eight years ago, he is a son of John Winthrop Chanler and Margaret Astor Ward and is a great-grandson of the original John Jacob Astor. He obtained his education for the practice of the law at Columbia university and at Cambridge, England, and married when twenty-one Miss Alice Chamberlain in London. He lived for a time in Ireland and became prominent as a supporter of the Irish Nationalists under the leadership of Redmond. Mr. Chanler practices law chiefly for the purpose of aiding litigants or prisoners whose cases appeal to his sympathy, and he has never given much attention to the fee earning side of the profession.

A Kind Examiner.

Sir John Stainer was dearly loved by the students when he was professor of music at Oxford. "As an examiner he was most considerate," said one who studied under him, "and would always do his best to get you 'through.' I remember his asking me a poser in a viva voce examination. He waited patiently for the answer; but, partly through my nervousness no doubt, I could not think of it. At length he exclaimed testily, 'Dear me, how stuffy this room is, to be sure,' and he went and began tugging at the ventilator cord. It was quite two minutes before he got the thing open, and by the time he had sat down again and rearranged his gown I had the answer ready. Comparing notes later in the day with a man who was examined quite soon after me, I told him how the ventilator had served me. 'How remarkable,' he replied. 'Why, when I was stuck he said, 'How extraordinary drafty this place is,' and spent quite two minutes in shutting the ventilator.'"

Sensible Preference.

In one of Miss Mulock's stories she says that "a cheerful heart seethes cheerful things" and gives this incident in proof of it:

A lady and gentleman were in a lumber yard situated by a dirty, foul-smelling river. The lady said, "How good the pine boards smell!"

"Pine boards!" exclaimed the gentleman. "Just smell that foul river!" "No, thank you," was the reply; "I prefer to smell the pine boards."

They Both Pitch.

Which is the greater marvel, the crack baseball pitcher or the circus man? The baseball star, to be sure, pitches a ball with wonderful facility, but the circus man pitches a tent—Boston Globe.

THE EIFFEL TOWER'S NEW USE

It Is Now Employed to Send Wireless Telegraph Messages to Africa.

The troubles in Morocco have incidentally called attention to the use which has been made of the Eiffel tower in Paris as a wireless telegraph station. There has been much talk in the French papers of the communication thus established between the Eiffel tower and Casablanca. Messages can be sent from the tower to the Moroccan port in this way, but return messages from Casablanca cannot be obtained over the same system. The Eiffel tower, with its 300 meters of height, constitutes the most formidable antennae in actual existence, and it is in regular communication with the wireless station at Bizerta, from which it is separated by 1,500 kilometers.

But the Eiffel tower wireless system between Paris and Casablanca does not constitute an exchange because the wireless instruments on the warships of the latter port and those at the French consulate, though they can receive messages from Paris, have not sufficient power to send communications so long a distance.

CARDINAL VANNUTELLI.

Italian Prelate Now on a Visit to the United States.

One of the most learned and eminent of the cardinals of the Roman Catholic church is the Italian ecclesiastic who will preside at the fourth eucharistic congress of that church in Pittsburgh. Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli. The congress will be in session from Oct. 15 to 17 and will attract national

CARDINAL VINCENZO VANNUTELLI.

Interest. Cardinal Vannutelli has just come from Metz, where he was papal delegate to a similar congress.

The cardinal was born in 1836 and was invested with the scarlet robe which marks a prince of the church in 1883. He belongs to an old Roman family and is a brother of the Cardinal Serafino Vannutelli, who was prominently mentioned as the successor of the late Pope Leo XIII.

Glass Cutting.

The layman who is introduced to the mysteries of cutting glass for the first time is amazed at the amount of work that the workman does entirely by his eye. The first stage of the bowl which is to be cut finds it in a perfectly plain condition, not a scratch upon it and only a half dozen or more marks in red chalk, which mean absolutely nothing to the unpracticed eye. But to the workman they mean the whole pattern. Perhaps the dish is a salad bowl. The marks in chalk will run from the edge, five intervals apart, down to the center of the bowl at the bottom. In one of the divisions of the bowl thus marked there may be a little further marking in the shape perhaps of a diamond. This indicates the pattern into which the bowl is to be cut, and it will be repeated in each of the five divisions. All the intricacies of the design the workman has in his head, and they develop on the glass in a way which seems to the looker on absolutely marvelous.—New York Times.

Naturally.

Two men met at the gate of the cemetery, and each with excessive politeness bowed to the other to pass in before him. After a few minutes of this, when neither would give way, the younger of the two smiled and said: "You are the elder of the two, so naturally you ought to go first."—Sourire.

EVEN UNTO THE LEAST.

The Poor and Needy Helped by the Epworth League.

On Thursday evening the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church held what was known as a "Donation Party," not for their pastor but for the poor and needy of Bellefonte.

They have in their Society what is known as the MERCY and HELP department and it is made up of wide awake young ladies and gentlemen. During one of their visits to a very poor lady in this town they found her in actual want. Some one had sent her some vegetables to cook and she didn't have any coal or wood around the house to even make a fire. The committee reported the poor woman's wants to the League and coal, wood and eatables were sent to the home to last until this donation was held Thursday evening. This is only one instance of this kind of work that this organization has brightened some heart and home, God bless them.

Last winter Miss Margaret Miller fell on the icy pavement in front of Mr. Emil Joseph's home and fractured her hip. If it had been a rich person either the borough or the property owners would have had to stand heavy damages but as the woman was poor she had to suffer the consequences of falling. She has been confined to her little 2x4 in the ice house near the Daily News office. The only way they have of getting along is what her sister can get around from some kind friends. During the winter when the weather was cold they had to go and sit by another lady's cook stove all night to keep warm. What a life they must live.

Say, you people of Bellefonte who have money you should help just such people as these, and if you don't and you know they are in want, as sure as there is a God in Heaven you'll have to account for not doing so. How many have we in Bellefonte who have all they want and love to spare, why you would never miss helping just a little.

This Epworth League is made up mostly of young ladies and gentlemen who work hard every day for their living, but they can scrape together enough and more than the rich of Bellefonte to give part to the poor. Talk about Home and Foreign Mission, why goodness gracious if you look around you, you can find enough people to give your missionary money to, right here in this old town. Don't let us appeal to you again but if you want to give speak to some of the members of this society and they can tell you of many who are in want.

Leper Needs a Dentist.

Here is a good chance for some heroic dentist. Mock Sem, the Chinese leper under guard at Harriburg is in need of his services. Mock has an aching tooth which has been bothering him for several days. His guards have been seeding toothache drops, but they have failed to stop his pain, and there is small hope for permanent relief until some dentist treats him. So far none has appeared to take the case, however. Mock is accustomed to eat ten or twelve meals a day and the decayed tooth is interfering sadly with this.

BALANCE IN THE AIR.

The Necessity For Equilibrium In Bird Flight.

It is likely that the bird's superb ease and grace in the air are due to its ability to maintain absolute balance. If a gull makes the mistake of bending until the wind strikes its head and wings on the top it will tumble instantly. And the sailing birds, though they make no flapping motion of their wings, are constantly balancing themselves, like a man on a tight rope. Some scientists have maintained that the air sacs make it possible for the bird to manage minute changes that are very valuable in restoring equilibrium. It is known that the wing is joined to the body of the bird by what is called a universal joint, enabling the creature to make almost every possible motion. The body of a man is heavier than water, but if he gets into a position of perfect balance he will float. In some such way, it is claimed, the bird floats in the air. But as the bird would fall much more rapidly in the air than a man's body would sink in water the necessity for a far more subtle ability to keep the center of gravity on the part of the bird is apparent; hence, according to this theory, the bird is provided for this purpose with the most sensitive equipment, made up of nerves and mysterious air ducts, many of the wing feathers perhaps acting as sentinels, warning instantly of the slightest approach of shifting currents.—Everybody's Magazine.

ENTERTAINING THE DUKE.

Rudely Interrupted While He Was Chatting With Royalty.

The daily papers do their best, but not even their ubiquitous representatives garner all the store of good things which attend a royal visit to Ireland, says the London Sketch. No paper at the time printed the cream of the stories which grew out of a visit of the Duke of Connaught to the Emerald Isle. "Welcome to Ireland!" said a man as he saw the duke on the steps of a hotel in the little western town in which he was staying. "Welcome to Ireland, your royal highness. I hope I see your royal highness well." "Quite well, thank you," answered the duke. "And your noble mother, the queen. I hope her old ladyship is enjoying the best of health?" "Yes, thank you. The queen is very well indeed," said the duke, vastly amused with the easy familiarity of the peasant. "It's glad I am to hear it. And tell me, your royal highness, the other went on, 'how are all your noble brothers and sisters?' Before the duke could answer an aid-de-camp appeared, with, 'Here, get along there.' The peasant looked up with infinite scorn. 'Arrah! What a queer interruption!' he exclaimed. 'Can't you see that me and his royal highness is holdin' a conversation?'

"Trying on" Furniture.

When you go to buy a suit of furniture nowadays in one of our department stores you don't have to speculate as to how it will look in your room nor whether it will fit in or not. As soon as the salesman sees that a particular suit has met your fancy he calls for a porter or two and turns them loose in one of several rooms fitted up around the main showroom, setting them at work removing all the furniture in it. Then the suit that you seem to be hankering after is placed in appropriate positions in this room, and you can see at a glance just how the bedroom or parlor or dining room will look if you buy that particular suit.

There are a dozen of these smaller rooms around the main showroom, and as each one is decorated in a different manner it is easy to pick one out that approximates the scheme of your room at home. Like many modern ways of selling goods it is expensive in the beginning, but it pays in the end, for this plan of showing goods seldom fails of its intended effect.—New York Press.

A Widow Who Was Calm.

A lawyer was entertaining dinner guests recently with stories from his personal experiences. "A woman came into my office one afternoon and said she wanted to see a lawyer on a rather important matter," he said. "She was very prim and self-possessed."

"What can I do for you? I asked. "Well," she said in an easy tone, 'my husband was hurt in the wreck the other day.'

"I noticed she was dressed in mourning, but from her indifferent tone I gathered that it had no connection with her husband's accident."

"Was your husband badly injured?" I asked.

"Yes," she answered in the same quiet voice. "He got his head cut off."—Kansas City Times.

His Scheme Worked All Right.

It is related that a certain man was recently very sad because his wife had gone out of town on a visit, which she would not shorten in spite of his appeals to her to come home. He finally hit upon a plan to induce her to return. He sent her a copy of each of the local papers with one item clipped out, and when she wrote to find out what it was he had clipped out he refused to tell her.

The scheme worked admirably. In less than a week she was home to find out what it was that had been going on that her husband didn't want her to know about.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Give Up.

When a burglar asks the countdram, "Where's your money?" It is generally the wisest plan to give it up.

A virtue always outweighs a talent.—Momonon.

Had Sufficient Company.

A little boy was heard swearing by his mother. She reproved him very gently, telling him that God was with him and by him at all times and knew his very thoughts. Soon after he started downtown on an errand, and a dog followed him. Turning quickly around, the boy told the dog to go back; it was bad enough to have God following him everywhere, let alone a dog.

In Confederate Money.

One day during a temporary cessation of hostilities between the opposing forces a tall, strapping Yankee rode into the Confederate camp on a sorry looking horse to effect a trade for some tobacco. "Hello, Yank!" hailed one of a number of Confederate soldiers lolling about on the grass in front of a tent. "That's a right smart horse you all got there." "Think so?" "Yes; what'll you take for him?" "Oh, I don't know." "Well, I'll give you $7,000 for him," bantered the Confederate. "You go to blazes!" indignantly returned the other. "I've just paid $10,000 to have him curried."—Lippincott's.

O'Rourke, Hodcarrier.

O'Rourke had been a hodcarrier in Rochester when he was appointed to West Point.

There is something that sets the heart beating wildly in the fact that when his friends of old learned that he stood at the head of his class they clapped in some of their hard earnings and bought him a costly, richly engraved gold watch as a token that they were proud of him. He drilled me under the blooming horse chestnuts on the east side of the academic hall, and I will remember him looking at that same watch while giving me a little rest.

The fall before the Gettysburg campaign he became colonel of the One Hundred and Fortieth New York, and some time in the winter of 1862-63 I received his wedding cards, and the bride's name was Bridget. Many a time since I have thought that this was his boyhood love to whom he had remained steadfast while honors were falling about him. However that may be, he was killed while standing on a large bowlder, his regiment immediately before him and fighting almost at the very muzzles of its guns on Round Top.

Meanwhile fame's trumpet has been pealing, but not over his grave. Ah, how fickle she is! Everybody knows of his classmate, Cushing; not one in a thousand of dear old Pat! Yet I am sure that the spirits of Bayard and Sidney reined out their hands from heaven to grasp the gallant boy and welcome him to the company of gentlemen of all ages.—Atlantic.

He Didn't Inject It.

An elderly resident of Lynn, Mass., was talking about Mrs. Eddy, the head of the Christian Science church. "Write for them. A test will tell. 'When she lived here in Lynn,' said the old man, 'she conducted a temperance campaign for a time. She did a lot of good, though now and then she met with a rebuff. The story goes that a tramp once asked her for help."

"I'll help you, my friend," said Mrs. Eddy, "but first you must answer me one question. Do you or do you not drink beer?" "Why, lady," he said, "ye cert'nly don't think I squirt it into me arm wid a syringe!"

Bismarck and the Ambassador.

Lord Russell, the English ambassador at the German court, called one day on Prince Bismarck at the palace of the latter, in Berlin. During the conversation Lord Russell remarked that a man in the chancery's position must be bothered with a great many trouble-makers.

"God knows how true that is," sighed the prince.

"But you certainly have some remedy or other to get rid of such people quickly?"

"Oh, certainly," laughed Bismarck. "One of my best is that my good wife comes in to call me away on some pretext or other. Of course the caller can't remain after that."

These words were hardly uttered, when the princess entered and said in the most harmless way: "Otto, it is time to take your medicine. Do not forget it."

Lord Russell broke into a ringing laugh and took his leave at once.

Would Not Compromise.

A German traveler who tried to pass a meal ticket on the train was told by the conductor that he would have to pay the regular fare of 35 cents. The German argued and refused to pay more than 25 cents, whereupon the conductor stopped the train and put him off.

In a twinkling the traveler ran ahead of the engine and started to walk on the track. The engineer blew his whistle violently, but the frate German turned, shook his fist and called out: "You can vistle all you want to; I won't come back."

Pies and Pie Crust.

A good way to prevent the juice from running out of fruit pie is to insert a funnel shaped piece of paper in the top crust. This will allow the steam to escape while the pie is baking. Many people sprinkle the top of a juicy pie with flour before putting on the top crust. Another good suggestion is to use minute tapioca instead of flour for the purpose.

Lady Curzon's Discovery.

The late Lady Curzon is said to have told some American friends that very early in her married life she discovered that Lord Curzon liked to be "dressed for." So she resolved that he should never come to dinner without finding her in a garb a little different from what other people had seen in. "It is not much trouble," she "and it pleases him."

"Uncle Tom's Cabin."

There are some theatrical attractions that are not affected in the least degree by the shifting public taste and humor, one of these being Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," the great standard American drama that has retained its hold upon the public for over a decade. Its first production took place in the Troy Museum quite a number of years ago, after which it was produced in the old National theatre, Chatham street, New York, in January, 1853, where it enjoyed a three years' run to enormous business. It will be presented at the opera house on Friday Oct. 25th, by Stetson's big company, an organization long known to be superior in every way and one which is ever popular with theatergoers. The company has been newly equipped for this season and the star parade is even finer, if possible, than during previous tours.

Deafness Cannot Cure

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; plus cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root, pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

THE CITY OF CANALS.

Venice and the Many Islands Upon Which It Is Built.

Venice is one of the most singular and famous cities in Europe and is built upon a cluster of islands in the lagoon. This lagoon is banked off from the Adriatic by a long, narrow sand bank which is divided into a number of islands, six in number. Inside of this sand bank and between it and the mainland is the lagoon, a sheet of shallow water. In parts of this marshy, sea covered plain islets have become consolidated into ground, firm enough to be cultivated.

In the midst of a crowded cluster of such islands, amounting to between seventy and eighty in number, the city of Venice is built. The chief of these islands is called Isola de Rialto, or Island of the Deep Stream. The islands, in many places mere shoals, afford no adequate foundation for buildings, and the city for the most part is built upon an artificial foundation of piles and stones.

The Grand canal divides Venice into two equal parts and is the main thoroughfare for traffic and pleasure. The city is subdivided by some one hundred and forty-six small canals or water streets, and the gondola is used for the carriage. Access can also be had to various parts of the city by land, there being over three hundred bridges across canals. The Rialto, the most famous bridge, spans the Grand canal. There are also narrow lanes in among the houses.

The Overruling of a Judge.

A judge once awoke in the night to find his room in the possession of two armed burglars. Covered by the pistol of one of the marauders, the judge watched the proceedings with his usual judicial calm. One of the depredators found a watch. "Don't take that," the judge said; "it has little value and is a keepsake." "The motion is overruled," replied the burglar. "I appeal," rejoined the judge. The two burglars consulted, and the spokesman then replied: "The appeal is allowed. The case coming on before a full tribunal of the supreme court, that body is of the unanimous opinion that the decree of the lower court should be sustained, and it is accordingly so ordered." Pocketing the watch, court adjourned.

Logic and Metaphysics.

Joaquin Miller was once conversing with a learned professor who was visiting California. To the poet's query, "What do you do?" the professor answered that he held the chair of metaphysics and logic at a New England university. Whereupon the venerable Miller, with an encouraging smile, reassuringly patted the professor on the shoulder. "Logic and metaphysics, eh? Well, I suppose we must have people to look after those things, even if they don't exist."

Torture.

"The Carthaginian mercenaries," he said, "increased their prisoners in a cement that as it hardened contracted. You can't imagine how uncomfortable this was."

"Oh, yes, I can," she answered. "I once had on a tight bathing suit when it began to shrink."—Los Angeles Times.

The "Nagur" and the Fiddle.

Here is a story that Frederick Douglass used to tell about himself: Once when he was in Dublin he felt very lonesome. He was wandering about the streets when he was attracted by two violins in the window of a second-hand dealer. Frederick entered and asked the price of one of the instruments.

"Five shillings, sir," said the Irish dealer.

Frederick tuned the violin and began to play "Rocky Road to Dublin." Soon the proprietor's wife heard the music and entered the rear door. Then Frederick started in on "The Irish Washerwoman," and the couple began to dance for dear life. When the music and dancing stopped Frederick tendered the dealer 5 shillings, but his performance on the violin had greatly enhanced its value in the mind of the storekeeper, and as he hurried away to a place of security he exclaimed: "If a black nagur can get such chunes out of that fiddle I'll never sell it at any price, begorra!"

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

State.

FOR STATE TREASURER,
John O. Sheatz, Philadelphia.

County.

FOR PROTHONOTARY,
Hayes Schenk, Howard.
FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY,
Edward R. Chambers, Bellefonte.
FOR COUNTY SURVEYOR,
D. W. Fletcher, Howard, Pr.

EDITORIAL.

VOTE for Hayes Schenk for Prothonotary.

HAYES Schenk would make a pleasant and obliging Prothonotary Vate for him.

VOTE for Sheatz for State Treasurer and you will secure an honest, faithful official.

A vote for Col. E. R. Chambers for District Attorney will be an act you will never regret.

Col. Chambers will make an excellent District Attorney. Vote for him on Tuesday Nov. 5.

VOTE for D. W. Fletcher for County Surveyor. He is a poor man and fully capable of filling the position.

Harman Was Here.

Four or five of the most prominent democrats of the county went to the 1:23 train on Wednesday to greet Harman the democratic candidate for State Treasurer.

In the first carriage was Harman the candidate and some lady who is traveling with him. In the second carriage Schofield, Bower, Taylor and Dunlap and in the third carriage BURY and DEWATER.

Big posters announced the Mass Meeting all over the county and when the meeting was called to order in the Opera House about fifty STALWART democrats were present.

DEFEAT.

This is the way Harman will look on the 6th of November.

The fact of the matter is the democrats called this meeting when the Old Soldiers had picked out this date months ago to hold their Camp Fire in the court house and of course the people went there and the Temple of Justice was crowded by the Supporters of Sheatz and the entire Republican ticket.

All that was said in the Opera House was a few stunts about the State Capitol. A subject the people of Pennsylvania have heard discussed over and over again and are sick and tired hearing Bury sing his old solo about what HE did.

So the people went to hear the old soldiers last evening and sort of gave Harman and his gang the cold shoulder.

"GET OUT THE VOTE"

The Veteran "Uncle Tom" Cooper
Calls Upon "the Old Guard."

A WARNING TO WORKERS

Governor Stuart Pays Another High
Tribute to the Republican Nominee
For State Treasurer, John O.
Sheatz.

[Special Correspondence.]

Philadelphia, Oct. 22.

"Uncle Tom" Cooper, the sage of Media, and for many years the Republican field marshal of the Keystone state, has issued a call to arms for the "Old Guard" of Pennsylvania Republicanism to come out and vote for John O. Sheatz, the nominee for state treasurer at the approaching election.

For nearly 10 years "Uncle Tom" was at the head of the Republican state committee. He has gone through many a political campaign, and whether in victory or defeat, he always bobs up smiling and ready to go at his old-time foe, the Democracy, with all the vehemence and ardor of his nature.

"John O. Sheatz is going to be elected state treasurer, because he deserves to be elected," said the perennial Cooper today. "He is an ideal Republican candidate, and is entitled to the vote of every Republican in the state. He needs no platform in this campaign but his own personality and his own record in public and private life. I served with him in the legislature and know his character and his work. I also know that he is a typical Pennsylvanian and that he will allow nothing to interfere with a faithful and conscientious performance of his official duties. No one could get him to vote for a bill in the legislature that he did not believe was in the interest of the people. I know the influences that were brought to bear upon him to do otherwise, and I was there when he boldly, time and again, voted 'NO' when the roll was called upon such measures. We want men of that stripe in the office of state treasurer."

Warning to Party Men.

"There is just a word I have to say to the men in the party organization in the various counties of the state. Do not be fooled. The Democrats are wide-awake and are going to get out their vote. The independent movements have gone to smash, but the old-time Democratic enemy is still doing business at the old stand and will be at the polls on election day. No one, of course, looks for Mr. Sheatz's defeat, but it is just such conditions as exist today that have cost the Republican party dearly in the past. The Republican vote must be got to the polls."

"Taking it for granted that 'every thing is all right' has been the undoing of many a party leader. What we want at the coming election is the greatest possible percentage of the vote put into the ballot boxes, and then we will be able to celebrate a victory of which every Republican can be proud, and which will put the party in this state in full strength upon the firing line for the presidential battle of next year."

"Get out the vote; get out the vote; get out the vote."

Probably no man in Pennsylvania is taking a keener interest in the canvass for the election of Mr. Sheatz than is Edwin S. Stuart.

The governor was intensely gratified when Mr. Sheatz received the nomination, and he was quick to give a cordial endorsement of the action of the convention.

Governor Stuart's Advice.

The governor is just now busy with his attorney general in preparing the state capitol cases for trial. He does not neglect, however, upon any proper occasion, to urge the election of Mr. Sheatz.

While his official duties would not permit him to attend the great Republican rally in Pittsburgh on Saturday evening last, Governor Stuart sent a ringing letter, which was read at the meeting, advocating the election of the Republican nominee for state treasurer.

In this letter, Governor Stuart, among other things, said:

"I regret that an important business engagement made some time ago, which I am unable to postpone, will prevent me from accepting your kind invitation. I assure you that nothing would give me greater pleasure than to come to Pittsburgh and speak to the people of Allegheny county in favor of the election of John O. Sheatz, Republican candidate for state treasurer. I have known him for upwards of 20 years. He has served the state faithfully as a member of the legislature, is absolutely incorruptible, and will conduct the office of state treasurer with credit to himself and honor to the Republican party, and I do not hesitate to say with entire satisfaction to the people of Pennsylvania, there is no reason why any citizen should hesitate to cast his vote for Mr. Sheatz."

Candidate Sheatz has had a series of ovations since he started out upon the stump. In Bradford, Kane and Indiana, where he went prior to his visit to Pittsburgh on Saturday last, he was met by great crowds and was assured of loyal support.

Mr. Sheatz is not a professional orator. He is a plain, matter-of-fact talker, but he never fails to impress his audience with his sincerity of purpose and with his determination to meet every obligation of the trust which is surely to be imposed in him by the people.

A NATION LOOKS ON

Election in This State of Far Reaching Importance.

THE CITADEL OF PROTECTION

National Administration and National Party Policies at Issue, and Size of the Majority Will Be Significant.

[Special Correspondence.]

Harrisburg, Oct. 22.

Just two weeks from today the voters of Pennsylvania will be called upon to go to the polls and decide whether they shall be enrolled as members of the party of Republicanism, the party of Roosevelt and the party of Prosperity, or be enlisted with the Democracy, the party of Bryanism, Hearstism and uncertainty and demoralization in governmental and business conditions.

The verdict of Pennsylvania, given on Tuesday, November 5th, will be a verdict that will be fraught with national significance, that will mean much in its bearing upon the great presidential contest which will begin immediately after the result of this election shall be announced, and which will determine whether Pennsylvania is to be a potential factor in framing the policies and in selecting the nominee of the next Republican national convention.

The greater the majority for the nominee of the Republican party, the greater will be the emphasis with which the voters of the state will herald to the world their continued fealty to the administration and the cause of Republicanism in the nation.

While reports of the most encouraging character are being received by Chairman Andrews at the Republican state headquarters, it is also a fact that great danger is apprehended from a feeling of over confidence which exists among the great rank and file of the Republican voters. The fact that the party is united, that there is no fusion movement in any county in the state and that the organizations of the Lincoln Party and other independent elements have disintegrated, naturally gives a feeling of security to the county and precinct committeemen of the Republican party.

Danger in Over-Confidence.

But it is just such a condition of affairs that leads old-time campaign managers to be concerned about the polling of the Republican vote. Taking it for granted that victory was assured, has resulted in many a defeat. A great falling off of the Republican vote, even though the candidate for state treasurer shall be elected, would, from the standpoint of national politics, be a Republican defeat in Pennsylvania this fall.

Within the last 10 days there have been undoubted signs of a revival of interest in the Democracy.

The Democratic state committee has, from some source or other, been supplied with ample funds with which to make an aggressive campaign. Their candidate for state treasurer is addressing meetings nightly and a corps of spellbinders are at work in every county in the state lining up the Democratic voters for what they insist is the skirmish of next year's presidential battle.

Democrats Are Looking Ahead.

These Democratic orators are telling their followers that the Democrats of the nation are getting together, that they have bright hopes of winning the presidency next year and that the Republicans are divided upon the tariff issue and upon other questions that will give the Democrats an opening in the coming national contest.

Colonel James M. Guffey, who announces that he is a candidate to succeed himself on the Democratic national committee, is showing his interest in the national phase of the situation by rounding up his lieutenants in the several congressional districts of the state and getting them to pick out men for delegates to the national convention who will vote for his re-election as national committeeman. Guffey wants Pennsylvania's Republican majority to be cut down this fall so that he can then announce that the party is divided upon the tariff and that even in Pennsylvania, the citadel of protection, there is a large constituency among the Republicans who agree with the Republicans of the western and eastern states, who are advocating the "Iowa Idea" for scaling down the tariff schedules.

Workingmen of Pennsylvania, manufacturers of Pennsylvania, business men of Pennsylvania and farmers of Pennsylvania, who have become happy and prosperous under the Pennsylvania idea of a protective tariff, it is predicted, are not going to shirk their duty this fall, they are not going to give the tariff revisionists a slogan with which to go to the next Republican national convention proclaiming that the Republicans of Pennsylvania are at odds, that there is a large element in favor of the "Iowa Idea," and that the result of the election, the falling off of the Republican vote and the reduction of the Republican majority, means that there is dissatisfaction with existing conditions and that there is a demand for a change in the policies of the party.

EVERY Republican in Centre Co. should turn out on Election day and vote the straight Republican ticket from top to bottom.

EVERYONE in Centre County knows Hayes Schenk, who for years has been Justice of the Peace at Howard. He is a pleasant fellow who will make a splendid Prothonotary of Centre Co.

Electricity for Penns Valley.

Last Saturday Wallace W. Wilson representing the Wilson Electric Light and Power Company, of Huntingdon county, and D. J. G. Spangler, water power man, made a visit to Penns Valley for the purpose of ascertaining if it were practical to install an electric light plant in the valley. After going over the ground thoroughly and assuming themselves that the population and character of the county would warrant the expenditure necessary, they critically examined the water power of Penns Creek at Rote's mill, about one and one-half miles west of Coburn, and, finding it to be satisfactory, leased the water power for a period of ninety-nine years. This at present is regarded as the best water power on Penns Creek, but it is the intention of the gentlemen interested to further increase the power by raising the dam about eight feet, thereby giving it an efficiency of about one hundred horsepower continuously.

The towns to be benefited are Coburn, Millheim, Aaronsburg, Penn Hall, Spring Mill and Centre Hall. Probably a line later would be run to Rebersburg.

The gentlemen interested represent financial interests that make it possible for the project to be successfully launched, and if they are given the proper encouragement by the people along the proposed route it will only be a matter of time until the stores and homes throughout the valley will be lighted electrically.

Hallowe'en

The last night in October, the eve of All Saint's Day, or Hallowe'en, has been celebrated in various ways for over six hundred years. According to popular superstition this is the time of all others when evil-doers abroad ghosts walk and all kinds of mystic doings are on foot to unveil the future. An open fire adds greatly to the fun of a Hallowe'en party and plays an important part in many of the festivities. And on the account the kitchen or the cellar, where you can have the furnace fire are often chosen as the scene of the festivities.

If you cannot get jack-o-lanterns made of real pumpkins to decorate with you can easily purchase the jack-o-lantern and witches' head lanterns and give the place a weird and ghastly look with these.

Charley Donachy Promoted

PE-RU-NA RECEIVES PRAISE

For Relieving Such Symptoms as Debility, Backache and Headache.

THERE are a great many phases of woman's ailments that require the assistance of the surgeon. But by far the greater number of such cases are amenable to correct medicinal treatment.

No surgeon in the world has relieved so many women from the different phases of ailments peculiar to woman-kind as Dr. Hartman through the use of Peruna.

He receives many letters from all parts of the country relating to subjects of vital interest to woman-kind.

Of the vast multitude of women Dr. Hartman cures annually, only a small per cent. of them consider it necessary to write to the Doctor at all.

Not one in a thousand of these fortunate women report their success. Of those who do write testimonials, only a very small per cent. are ever used in public print.

While it is not affirmed that Peruna will cure every case of this kind, it is certainly the part of wisdom for every woman so afflicted to give Peruna a fair trial. Her chances of relief are so many that any woman would be doing herself an injustice to neglect such an opportunity of relief.

Mrs. Emma E. Gildner

Mrs. Emma E. Gildner, 729 Santa Fe Ave., Denver, Col., Financial Secretary Germania Order der Haragari, writes:

"Peruna has been a great blessing to me. I suffered agonies with severe headaches and a weak back and could hardly drag myself around."

"A friend who was visiting me was taking Peruna for the same trouble and induced me to try it. I soon found that I was being helped and in less than three weeks I felt like a different woman and in four months I was well. Peruna certainly gave me strength. I consider it an ideal woman's remedy."

Very Precarious Condition.

Mrs. Lottie Ward, 617 Tracy Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes: "A few years ago my health was in a very precarious condition, the result of womb trouble and general debility."

I suffered a great deal and was glad to try Peruna when it was recommended to me so highly. I found it very beneficial. In a short time the pains greatly decreased and in two months I was completely restored.

"I am pleased to endorse Peruna."

NOTE.

Only 13 of the 108 men that left Boalsburg 46 years ago were present at this meeting they were as follows:

C. L. Greco,
Sam'l H. Williams,
W. P. Harpster,
Ben. B. Minich,
Andrew Cramer,
Wm. H. Moser,
G. Armstrong Jacobs,
Charles Eckenroth,
Wm. Reed,
Philip Wertz,
John Hook,
Griffith Lytle.

Mrs. Amanda Fisher was chairman of the committee of ladies who served the splendid dinner at the school house to all visitors at Boalsburg on Saturday.

The old soldiers certainly have a warm spot in their hearts for Mr. Theodore Boal whose kindness to them on Saturday could not have been excelled by any one.

Some of the homes in Boalsburg were beautifully decorated with the stars and stripes for this occasion showing the people to have the same patriotic spirit they had years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McFarlane received the comrades of H. at the Tavern and made them to feel perfectly at home.

Paris Doctors Can Remove Birthmarks.

Two of the foremost physicians of Paris, Doctors Wickham and Degrain, created a sensation at the Academy of Medicine, by their report on a discovery of a method to remove birthmarks by the action of radium. Such marks have hitherto been believed indelible, but the new method has proved equally successful in the case of adults as of children.

The marks are effaced by the simple application of a plane surface covered with varnish containing radium. The action is regulated by the length and frequency of the applications. A series of water colors exhibited before the Academy showed the gradual disappearance of birthmarks subjected to the treatment until there was not a single trace of the disfigurement.

The applications are absolutely painless and may be applied to infants during sleep. The doctors add that the birthmarks most easily removed are those most highly colored.

Your skin should be clear and bright if your liver is in normal condition. Kings Little Liver Pills act on the liver; and headache, constipation and biliousness disappear. Price 25 cents. Sold by Krumrines Drug Store.

Wild Cats Frighten Woman.

A dispatch from Lewisburg says: A band of robber cats is terrorizing the housewives of Buffalo Valley, Union county. Mrs. Joseph Warmkesel, near Forest Hill, was badly frightened yesterday, when she turned around from her cooking and faced five fierce looking, battle-scarred cats in the kitchen. When she made amove to drive them out of the house, two of the leaders sprang at her throat, letting out the most blood-curdling yells. Mrs. Warmkesel fled from the room in terror, and the wild animals made off with a choice steak she was about to cook.

Where these partly wild animals came from no one knows. They first appeared in this neighborhood about ten days ago, when they raided the chicken coop of Thomas Haupt, near Chappel's Bluff. A loud commotion in the coop awakened Mr. Haupt about four o'clock in the morning. Sallying forth with his gun he amazed to see five cats dashing away over the fields, each with a healthy pullet in his jaws. By the time he recovered from his astonishment the animals were beyond gun shot.

Several times people in the valley have been badly frightened by being awakened in the middle of the night by a chorus of yowls. When the dog belonging to George Watson, of Mazeppas Mills, charged upon the midnight prowlers the other night he was almost torn to pieces. So badly did the quintet of savage beasts dig him that his owner was obliged to shoot him.

Women fear for their children, as the animals appear and disappear as if by magic, and in their quests for food they attack either man or beast.

Wedding Serenade a Specie of Riot.

Wedding serenades are a species of riot, according to Judge Bell, and house holders have a right to use force to put the serenaders off their premises.

James Fasic, of Altoona, was tried in court for assault and battery on George Smith. Fasic's sister was to be married but it was necessary to postpone the ceremony two hours until the noise outside was stopped. Messages to the police failed to bring relief, and Fasic went out to disperse the crowd. He punched George Smith in the face and broke his nose.

"This serenading business is a bad custom," remarked Judge Bell, in his charge to the jury. "It is a species of riot. The householder has a perfect right to clear his premises from serenaders, even the spectators at such an affair are as guilty as those who make the noise." Fasic was acquitted.

NOT LOST BUT GONE BEFORE.

The wife of C. H. Watson died on Friday night at eleven o'clock, the cause of her death was consumption. She has been ill for some time, until she grew worse on Wednesday and Friday night she died. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband and five children and three sisters and one brother. We all sympathize with the bereaved family and she will be greatly missed by her many friends as she was liked by everybody.

Servant of God well done
Thy glorious warfare's past:
The battle fought, the race is won
And thou art crowned at last.

Our old friend Gilbert was out at Kartaus to a dance and he reports having a fine time, he says he shook the girls till their toe nails cracked, now Gilbert is a charming young fellow and he has quite a time with the girls. He is a spike pouter on the P. R. R. for W. H. Hall and he makes good money. Now Gilbert mind your failings, he likes the girls, he says he has a reason to because his mother was one.

There was to be a bean boil up at the park but something turned up that they didn't have it. Roll says he is going to quit getting up bean boils, he says he has to pay for everything and is not going to do it anymore. He says Gulland and Shank says they will help to pay for everything and after the bean boil is over they sneak off and hide to get out of paying for anything. Now I think Roll is right, Roll is a highly respected fellow and he ought to be used right. Roll is going to run things on a different scale from this out, everybody cash up before the bean boil, so Skido 23.

The Beauty Doctor.

One of the most notable attractions is set for Monday Oct. 28th at the Garman Opera House. On that occasion Manager Fred E. Wright will present his original musical farce comedy success entitled "The Beauty Doctor" with Hope Gage in the title role, supported by a round half dozen comedians, who in point of singing and humorous delineation have rarely been seen together in one organization of a musical character, while a beauty chorus of girls who combine voice and dancing qualifications of a high order with their more than ordinary beauty, form an ensemble bewitching to the eye and musically of great merit.

As its name implies, the comedy is a satire on the craze of beauty culture so prevalent, a theme hitherto unexploited on the stage and which offers many opportunities for ludicrous situations. All of these situations have been accepted by the authors and it is said there are more hearty laughs produced in the later years of musical comedy.

But it is the music of "The Beauty Doctor" which is expected to set every one whistling. There are no less than eighteen separate numbers in the score that will be the song hit of the year. "Good-Bye Jennie Jones" is one of the gems of the performance and "Come Down Mr. Man In The Moon." "On a Paper and a Comb," "My flower of the South," "My Little Mimi San," A Japanese Dove Song, which is one of the features of the play.

Headache and constipation disappear when Rings Little Liver Pills are used. They keep the system clean, the stomach sweet. Taken occasionally they keep you well. They are for the entire family. Sold by Krumline's.

THOMAS J. SEXTON,
Auditor.

Rev. Madison C. Peters Attacks Assaults Upon personal Liberty in this State.

From the Philadelphia Press, Oct. 7, 1907.

New York, October—Dr. Madison C. Peters in his sermon here on "Why the Church Has Lost Her Hold on the People," referred to the Fairbanks "cocktail" incident and made reference to the interference of certain religionists in Pennsylvania with a personal liberty and with making Temperance a partisan political issue. Dr. Peters said: All men resent interference with personal liberty. When a fanatic of any sect or denomination undertakes to impose his views on liberal views, and attempt to guide them in the narrow path of their own stunted natures, as to their private business and personal relations with the world, when the church does this, she strikes at the foundation not only of personal liberty, but interferes with what does not concern her in the least.

Churchly interference in private life has recently been emphasized in the matter of Vice President Fairbanks' luncheon to President Roosevelt, where the serving of a cocktail has been made by the churches of the Middle West a political issue. If Mr. Fairbanks deemed it proper to serve cocktails in the privacy of his own home that was his own affair and he acted entirely within the jurisdiction of a free-born American.

Mr. Fairbanks has been savagely attacked in hundreds of sermons, all of them lacking that Christian charity which should be shown to cover a multitude of sins, as practiced by these men is not large enough to cover a single cocktail. And the church which has given a life-time of service and support, after a most bitter campaign, defeated him as a lay delegate to the general convention. Of course Mr. Fairbanks happens to be a real Christian gentleman, broad-minded enough to overlook the pettiness of small-minded men, yet who could blame him if he kept out of the church for the future? While those ministers who have denounced Mr. Fairbanks may represent the spirit of the church the Vice-President knows full well that they are not the true exponents of the teachings of Jesus.

Then Dr. Peters, who is a native of Pennsylvania, of Pennsylvania Dutch ancestry, and who was for many years a minister in Philadelphia and in New York, where he speaks, further said, the attitude which these churches is taking on the temperance question in Pennsylvania is its fanaticism is like that which the people of Indiana have shown towards the Vice-President. In the name of Temperance, political meetings are held in the churches, even on the Sabbath Day, with the avowed purpose of advancing the political interests of a minority party, denouncing men who had been conspicuous in the church for years but who cannot see the temperance question as some of their neighbors see it, with the consequent result that throughout the State in every community can be found men who were regular attendants and supporters of the church twenty-five years ago, but who now never enter a church with the possible exception of attending a funeral or witness a wedding.

I believe myself in total obtuseness for the individual, but that gives me no excuse for interfering with the personal liberty of my neighbor. Notwithstanding our proud boast of freedom, we are still under both secular and churchly restrictions. The church in her severe attitude is only living up to her old-time traditions, regardless of civilization and progress. When she sets her anathema on those who step beyond her narrow confines, she assumes a prerogative on matters alien to her jurisdiction. When she arbitrarily takes upon herself the regulation of private actions and usurps the right of conscience, striking as she has in the Fairbanks' incident, at the privacy of the home-life and interfering with what does not concern her, she will lose her hold upon the people.

The church is fundamentally wrong when she seeks to extend her jurisdiction to the affairs of private life. The people will not stand for such interference in Europe, much less in America. The church is driving thousands from her doors by the assumption of an authority she does not possess. In the past she has always suffered for her meddling with personal liberty and freedom of conscience. She is under the ban in Europe at the present time for just this very reason. By interfering with the rights of others, religious fanatics in this country are driving men out of the church. The narrow-minded conservatism, the petty intolerance, the contemptible bigotry displayed in the Fairbanks' attack ought to be a warning to the American people for the American people will resent any interference with what they believe to be their rights under the Constitution to enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, not as the church dictates, but as they themselves see it. x x x.

—Nature "makes all things beautiful in their time." Every one of life's seasons, when it moves on Nature's lines, has its own charm and beauty. Many women dread that period when they must experience change of life. They fear that face and form may suffer by the change, and that they may fail to please those whom they love. The value of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription in this crisis of woman's life lies in the fact that it assists Nature. Its use preserves the balance and buoyancy of the mind and sustains the physical powers. Many women have expressed their gratitude for the help and comfort given by "Favorite Prescription" in this trying period. Its benefits are not passing but permanent. Not a "patent medicine" because all its ingredients are printed on the bottle-wrapper.

New Rules for Football.

The meeting of the central board of officials, with some 50 of the foremost football officials to act during the coming fall in the important games to be played during the season, developed last Friday night one of the most important and interesting meetings that have been held since the revision of the football code and the reformation of the game was begun two years ago.

The official statement of the rules committee's rulings on them is as follows:

Rule LII, Sec. 2—Substitutes entering the game. In event of further participation in the game of a replaced player the penalty of 15 yards shall be imposed and the player taken out. Players substituted between halves must report to the referee, as well as during the progress of a half.

Rule LV, Sec. 3.—Referee has no option to shorten the halves when disagreement occurs.

Sec. 4.—In case of a fair catch being made, time for the end of a half shall not be called until the free kick is allowed.

Rule VI, Sec. 3.—The line of a scrimmage is fixed by the ball, and is stationary; it does not move with the rush lines.

Sec. 5.—Rules respecting taking two steps after heeling a fair catch shall be literally enforced.

Sec. 11.—Goal from field. If the ball strikes the ground after drop kick or place kick and bounds over the crossbar it scores a goal.

Sec. 15.—Hurdling when done by other than a man carrying the ball in such a manner as to endanger others may be adjudged unnecessary roughness.

Rule VIII, Sec. 2.—Snapperback may assume any position so long as he does not violate the specific provisions of Sections one and two of this rule.

For the township of Patton, in the shop of John Hey at Waddle.

For the township of Penn, in the house formerly owned by Luther Giesewitz at Coburn.

For the township of Potter, north precinct, at the Old Fort hotel.

For the township of Potter, south precinct, at the hotel in the village of Pottery Mills.

For the township of Potter, west precinct, at the store of George Mies at Colyer.

For the township of Rush, north precinct, at the school house at Cold Stream.

For the township of Rush, east precinct, at public school building in the town of Cassanova.

For the township of Rush, south precinct, at public school house of the village of Powelson.

For that Dandruff

There is one thing that will cure it—Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is a regular scalp-medicine. It quickly destroys the germs which cause this disease. The unhealthy scalp becomes healthy. The dandruff disappears, had to disappear. A healthy scalp means a great deal to you—healthy hair, no dandruff, no pimples, no eruptions.

Persian Ideas.

An American traveler in Persia learned that the common soldiers of that country supposed that the English practice of eating a salute at the barrel of a soldier's rifle for its object the driving away of devils. Other mistaken impressions no less absurd he reports in his "Persian Life and Customs."

A village soldier asked me if I knew of dog worshippers. I told him I had heard of fire worshippers, cow worshippers and the like, but not of dog worshippers. He said he had seen some in Teheran. Some foreigners there had fed dogs at their tables, had washed and clothed them, fondled them in their laps and taken them riding in their carriages. Were they not dog worshippers?

An English sea captain, whose ship touched at Bushire, took a horseback ride through the streets of the city, but made so poor a display of horsemanship as to astonish and amuse the people. The next day a vendor of fruits came on board the ship and said to the captain:

"I have made such an explanation as to free you from all reproach. There is no one who does not think that you are an expert rider as to become one of a nation of horse men."

"And how did you do that?" asked the captain.

"I told them you were drunk."

Dr. Todd's Joke.

An amusing example of the Irishman's pronunciation occurs in a story told of the late Dr. Todd, the Irish archaeologist, who, although a great scholar, was not above perpetrating a practical joke. The London Spectator tells the story and says:

A very learned Englishman went to Dublin to examine some manuscripts in the library of Trinity college and was of course introduced to Dr. Todd, who one day in conversation told him that there was in Trinity college a curious instance of the survival of a habit dating from the time of the Danes; that at a certain hour of the afternoon—I think 6 o'clock—a porter went the round of the college ringing a bell and calling out in a loud voice, "The Dane's in the hall," when all the students rushed from their rooms to repel the invaders. So the learned but somewhat incredulous Englishman repaired to the college at 6 o'clock, and, sure enough, what Dr. Todd had told him came to pass, which he gravely related on his return to England. The summons of course referred to the dean.

The Three Fates.

The names of the three fates were Clotho, Lachesis and Atropos. To express the influence which they were believed to exercise on human life from birth to death they were represented as spinning a thread of gold, silver or wool, now tightening, now slackening and at last cutting it off. Clotho, the youngest, put the wool around the spindle. Lachesis spun it and the aged Atropos cut it off when a man had to die.

The Razor in Disrepute.

"And he told her all his heart, and said unto her, there hath not come a razor upon mine head, for I have been a Nazirite unto God from my mother's womb; if I be shaven, then my strength will go from me, and I shall become weak and be like other men."—Judges xvi, 17.

Hair on man or brute is a sign of strength. He who desires to keep at a safe distance from dentists, let him keep also at a great distance from the knife of the barber. To shave is an act against nature. Provoke nature, and in return nature will provoke you.

Said Daniel Webster: "The razor! It has taught me to curse. It has cost me more time and more trouble than all my speeches."

Rufus Choate, the lawyer, called the razor an instrument invented by Lucifer to fill up hell with barbers.

Edward Everett never used profane language, but before shaving he would invariably give vent to all sorts of French barbarisms.

Jordan Water.

There is a general impression that the Jordan water which is used at royal baptisms is taken from the sacred stream, put into a bottle, hermetically sealed and left untouched until the bottle is opened by the officiating priest. As a matter of fact, the water which flows out of the lake of Galilee and descends a rocky gorge to a level far below that of the Mediterranean is full of organic substances. If a bottle be filled with the water and kept tightly corked for a few days it turns perfectly black and offers to the nostrils all the odors of the tropics. The precaution is therefore taken of boiling the water and straining it before it is sealed up, and this is why the baptismal water always possesses the crystal clearness which one notices on these ceremonial occasions.—Modern Society.

The Undertaker's Shop.

"The one thing in New York that I can't get used to," said the country visitor, "is the manifold uses to which undertakers put their shops. I used to be of the opinion that the only possible errand a person could have at an undertaker's was to purchase funeral supplies, but in this town I find that people go there for all sorts of purposes. They go to vote, to get married and to transact all the legal business that a notary public is capable of transacting. Yesterday I even saw a party eating luncheon in an undertaker's establishment. They had come into town apparently to attend a funeral and instead of patronizing a restaurant they calmly munched their midday meal in the midst of those lugubrious surroundings."—New York Globe.

Cornell.

Oct. 19 h.—Cornell

Score of 8 to 6. Two drop kicks by Vrais, the cover quarterback of the visiting team, beat the Ithacans, but in the play even a fair game they could not have won out. Wilder carried the ball over the line in the first half only to fumble it, giving Penn State a chance to kick off. Cornell, moreover, lost out 150 yards on forward passes, which failed to make good the ball touching the ground. The untimeliness of the backs to lose, caused much by failure to box McClary and Hirschman, made McCallie and Kariel helpless to get it.

Binton was the only weak spot on the Cornell line, but McLeary and Zink found him for many yards. Wretched fumbling by Caldwell, Gardner and Earle lost many yards for the Ithacans. Cornell worked the ball close to the goal line in the first half only to fumble it behind the line. A series of fumbled forward passes by Cornell caused Penn State to get the ball on Cornell's 49-yard line and McLeary worked it down to the 15. Vorhis then kicked a drop goal.

In the second half Cornell played and and drove the ball to the five-yard line. Here the visitor played heroically, but Wilder finally carried it over. After some more misadventure work on Cornell's part, Penn State got the ball on the 40-yard line and Vorhis dropped a pretty goal.

Gardner was taken to the hospital threatened with concussion of the brain.

The lineup:

Cornell Penn State
Watson, Southerland, L. E. Burns
Lynch, L. T. Ritchey

Nurses want State to Compel Registration.

A new bill is being drafted. Graduate Association will renew effort when legislative meets.

At the session of the Nurses' Graduate Association held 16th, 17th and 18th of Oct. in Hotel Schenley Pittsburgh, the tentatime was taken up with a discussion of a new bill which is being drafted for the presentation in the State legislature, requiring nurses to be registered by the State. A former bill, was defeated and by this reason a new bill was drafted. Miss Helen Hunt is chairman of the legislative committee. She attributes the defeat of the bill in measure to the Springing up of a course of training for nurses given through corresponding schools. The courses last six weeks. The supporters of the registration bill repudiate the charge of commercialism instead of trying to raise the standards of charges from $30 to $50 as is charged against them, the trend of the argument in support of the bill insists on a broader educational standard a wider experience before graduating and liberalness in the matter of charges special stress being laid in a service to patients of only modest income who cannot afford the exorbitant rates which those antagonistic to the movement claim the nurses are working to secure.

The meeting closed on Friday night and appointed Allentown for next meeting in April for the completion of the bill.

The Royal Month and the Royal Disease.

Sudden changes of weather are especially trying, and probably to none more so than to the scrofulous and consumptive. The progress of scrofula during a normal October is commonly great. We never think of scrofula—its bunches, cutaneous eruptions, and wasting; of the bodily substances—without thinking of the great good many sufferers from it have derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla, whose radical and permanent cures of this disease are enough to make it the most famous medicine in the world. There is probably not a city or town where Hood's Sarsaparilla has not proved its merit in more homes than one in arresting and completely eradicating scrofula, which is almost as serious and as much to be feared as its near relative, consumption.

It is claimed indigestion is the National disease. That why the demand for Rings Dyspepsia Tablets keeps increasing because they do the work. Stomach trouble, dyspepsia indigestion, bloating, etc., yield quickly. Two days treatment free. Ask your druggist about them. Sold by Krumrine's Drug Store.

A BUSINESS REVIEW

State of Trade as Reported by Bradstreets.

MARKET CONDITION

The Money Stringency is an Additional Feature Which Attracts Attention at the Present Moment.

THE CONDITIONS ARE IRREGULAR

New York, October 19.—Bradstreets today says: Trade, crop and industrial reports are rather more irregular. Interest in distributive trade has now largely passed from the wholesale and jobbing branches to retail trade, the development and proportions of which will be closely scrutinized from now on. So far the reports as to this line are conflicting, being best in parts of the northwest, southwest and south, and relatively slackest at the east which needs sharp cold weather for best activities. Jobbing is fair as a whole, it being noted that house trade is rather quiet, while filling in orders vary with sections reporting. The money stringency is an additional feature which attracts attention, affecting as it does the item of collections on past transactions. As to this item of collections, too, it may be said that holding of crops has been a subject of complaint from several points.

The eastern shoe season has about ended, with shipments nearly five per cent. smaller than in 1906. Some orders diverted from St. Louis by the strike there are noted at the east.

Business in iron and steel is very quiet, the week in most respect having been the duller of the year, although a little more activity is witnessed in Basic and Bessemer pig iron in the Pittsburgh district. The order placed for Bessemer was taken by an independent interest which had been engaged on foundry iron. In the east some furnaces are blowing out and while stocks are reported accumulating at a few points the quantity is not large. As matters now stand it seems to be a foregone conclusion that fall furnace capacity will not be operated throughout the winter. Copper is again weaker and more competition for small orders has developed.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending October 17 number 194, against 192 last week and 170 in the like week of 1907.

Enter "The Toymakers."

"There are strange things in Toyshops" was the wise and witty saying of the olden times and Charles Felton Pidgin has brought out once more the force of the adage in his new and wonderfully clever comic opera of "The Toymaker," a musical presentation of his book under the same title and for whose merry and always melodious score the well-known Boston composers, Charles D. Blake and John A. Bennett are sponsors.

The action of the play takes place in England—Merrie England of a certainty in this instance—and the locale, the shop of the old toymaker, who has made a wonderful doll and endowed it with electrical life and whose fantastic performances in the village call out a laugh producing power and a sustained interest that is almost unequalled in one day. Few there are who have not either in book form or on the stage seen Mr. Pidgin's earlier and most remarkable success, "Quincy Adams Sawyer," "the greatest New England play ever written," as it has been called. And this new work by the same author bids fair to equal its famous predecessor in popularity. "The Toymakers" will be given here at the Garman opera house on Friday Nov. 15th for one night only the management of Charles F. Atkinson and James Thatcher. The opera has been everywhere received most favorably, the audiences have been large and the public are unanimous in its praise. The musical numbers, twenty-six in all, are unusually bright and tuneful and Mr. Pidgin's lyrics find a worthy setting. One may sum up in saying that in its all-around good qualities, of clever, witty and alway wholesome dialogue, its merry airs and the humorous surprises of its situations, the author has given us a play whose success is already assured.

20 Girls Elected Ushers.

Atlantic City, October 15.—Special sermons having failed to stop the steadily decreasing attendance of young men, the Rev. George D. Jones, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, will enlist the services of twenty pretty young women as an attraction. Forty volunteered when Mr. Jones called for twenty to act as ushers, and the lucky twenty were selected by ballot at a meeting of the Young People's Society. They will escort the young men to their seats while men look after the ladies.

Dr. Schuyler Speaks of the Sabbath.

Last week we made mention of a certain farmer over in Penns Valley who was out in his fields plowing and sowing seed on the Sabbath Day. In the week's Centre Hall Reporter, Rev. Dr. Schuyler, pastor of the Presbyterian church at that place writes the following article in answer to work and pleasure on the Holy Day.

It is very evident from recent discussion among citizens that this community considers an ordinary farm work on the Sabbath day a much greater sin than much else that is done in our midst on that sacred day which, as a matter of fact, the Reporter claims rightly is equally bad. If this discussion brings out the true character of certain Sunday habits into which we have fallen it will be a good thing. The reason why Sabbath plowing stirs up a community while other equally bad deeds cause scarcely any comment is that we have become habituated to the latter.

Right here is a strong argument for care even in little things; the force of habit blinds to the sinful character of many Sabbath acts; but these things are none the less transgressions of divine law because man forgets that they are soon. The Lord holds us responsible for ignorance that could have been avoided.

A common excuse for violating the Sabbath law is, "I had no other time; I must do it on that day." What employer would excuse a workman who would take a half day of his employer's time, without permission asked and granted, for the transaction of his own business? The Lord has given man six days for his own works and reserved the seventh for Himself, and yet man is ever encroaching on the Lord's time.

And then this plea of necessity. You go to the Cave on the Sabbath because you have no other time. You are not compelled to go to the Cave. Millions of people have never seen the Cave and never will see it; and they will die just as happy as you. You forgot to get meat or coffee or tobacco Saturday evening and so you make a journey to the store or shop Sunday. A great multitude of people would cheerfully do without meat one day in seven if they were sure of it on the other six; and perhaps your physician will tell you that if you should omit drinking coffee for one day, you would not suffer any irreparable injury; and then, as to the tobacco and the cigars, perhaps, perhaps, it would be asking too much entirely to demand that you dispense with such delicacies for twenty four hours!

Then, Mr. Merchant, you say you cannot compete with other stores if you refuse to open your doors on the Sabbath, or you wish to accommodate a friend; that is, you have more regard for the actions and wishes of men than for the Lord. Again it is claimed that butchers must kill on the Sabbath. Why do not all butchers have to do so? And is it not well known that multitudes who know what good meat is would not eat the meat if they knew the animal had been killed within twenty four or even forty-eight hours or more? Where then this need of haste?

And so we might go on through the list, and, perhaps, if we were right honest with ourselves and the Lord, we would find that the real reason why we do many things on the Sabbath is that we do not call it a delight, the holy of Jehovah honorable, and are not ready to honor it, by not doing our own ways, nor finding our own pleasure, nor speaking our own words on that holy day (Isa. 58:13).

Rumors come to my ears that Centre Hall has been "rougher" than usual of late. I do not know. I am not in the best position to know, but this I do know that it is much easier to keep a community up to a certain moral standard than it is to raise it to that standard after it has fallen below. We are all interested in preserving the fair fame and the welfare of our beautiful village; and if it be getting "rougher" we all need to act promptly and vigorously. Few things contribute more to the demoralization of a town than letting down the Sabbath bars.

Lady School Teachers Trouble.

Miss Mary Calhoun who is the instructor in the public schools at Pards; a little mining village between DuBois and Reynoldsville, at which the Panther Run coal operations are located, has many troubles with her school and on last Friday had quite a thrilling experience. Miss Calhoun has a large number of pupils of foreign decent most of whom are so unruly that she has great trouble in getting them to apply themselves to their studies. On Friday she sent home a little girl named Maisaro, who had been unusually disobedient, when soon the mother of the child came towards the school house, carrying a large revolver. The teacher barred the door and getting a little Italian girl to act as interpreter tried to have the troubles settled by carrying on a conversation through an open window. But the woman insisted that the teacher come to the window. When the teacher appeared, Mrs. Maisaro at once began to fire, but fortunately none of the bullets hit Miss Calhoun. Mrs. Maisaro has been arrested and in default of bail, committed to prison to await trial.

The Record in Bellefonte is a Unique One.

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ailment and is looking for relief and cure, better depend on the only remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills relieve quickly—cure permanently. Bellefonte citizens testify to this. Here is a case of it:

Mrs. Emma J. Davis of E. Logan St. Bellefonte, Pa. says: I have a great deal of confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills, and have already recommended them in a published testimonial in 1897. I told how I had been relieved of kidney complaint and backache which had kept me suffering for years. Doan's Kidney Pills did this for me when other remedies had failed. Whenever I feel any symptom of my old trouble I send to F. Potts Green's drug store for a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills and it never requires more than a few doses to get me right.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments. The "Night Cure," as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, cleans nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and animation, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well.

A Most Urgent Appeal to the Good Citizens of Bellefonte

The executive committee of the Young Woman's Club hereby appeals to your sympathy, generosity and prayers for its work in this vicinity. It is a great work in an hitherto untended field. For the past six months hundreds of different girls, making thousands of visits, have been invited from their homes, the factories, the streets, and the shops of this town as visitors to the present rooms and the entertaining and uplifting influences of this Club. Much good has been done, but not the hundredth part of that which craves aloud to be done. The question of the permanency of this Club is bound up with the most serious moral and social problems that have ever confronted the citizens of Bellefonte. A moral cancer is spreading frightfully in our midst. The problem of its cure appeals to every good and thoughtful person—but most powerfully to the parents of each boy and girl; for its effects both sexes alike. In spite of all this, the work has been misunderstood, criticised and some times even ridiculed.

The generous contributions of a few friends are now exhausted and the executive committee has been driven to the conclusion that this work so near their hearts and of such inestimable value to certain of the young women of the town must be abandoned and the present Club rooms closed unless instant relief, both in the nature of money contributions and personal work, be assured. The very suggestion of such a possibility has filled with surprise and amazement the young women and girls who have learned to look upon the Club room as a home and a refuge. We can assure the public that there is no lack of interest in the hearts of those that are to be helped. They are ready to cooperate even out of their small earnings; yet, under present conditions, the rooms can remain open but a few days longer. Don't let this soul-felt appeal fall upon deaf ears and cold hearts. The Executive Committee Young Woman's Club.

More Notes About Jake From.

Monday afternoon Mr. Stahl made information before Justice W. B. Mingle. A warrant was issued, and in a short time was served by Constable W. H. Rankle. From appeared before the justice and acknowledged the corn. Bail was fixed at $600. After several fruitless attempts on the part of From to induce various citizens to sign his bail bond, he was accompanied to his home by the constable where the hard cash was procured and deposited with the justice.

Among others whom From asked to go his bail was Druggist J. D. Murray. When the gentleman explained that he could not do so, because the act would simply encourage him, From spoke up and asked whether he (From) had ever stolen any thing from him (Murray). The reply came back, yes.

From sent a request to the office through Constable Rankle that no mention of his arrest be made in the Centre Hall Reporter. Mr. Rankle was informed that such a request could not be granted, but that he (From) would be dealt with fairly, and only the facts in case mentioned.

Can't Keep up the pace.

It begins to look as though both Altoona and Johnstown would drop out of the Tri-State, unable to make good their last season's losses and continue in the race. Only a few days ago the Johnstown papers announced that an effort to save the franchise by the organization of an association was not a success and was being coldly received.

Monday's Altoona Times says: "The idea of forming a club to take up the franchise of the Altoona Base Ball association is about abandoned. While there are a number of people who have expressed a willingness to take stock in it, their numbers are not large enough to justify the promoters in going ahead with it. Some of the directors of the team have canvassed the situation and have not been encouraged by the prospect."

"It is realized by the directors that something must be done speedily if there is to be base ball next season. The directors will discuss the situation tonight and will endeavor to see some way out of a complicated situation."

BRIEF MENTION

Short Items of Local Interest
Gathered By The Way Side

—The little baby of Mr. and Mrs. William Houser died Sunday.
—A dance was given at the Logan House on Thursday in honor of Miss Merriman.
—The Centre County Teachers Institute will convene in Bellefonte the week beginning 18th of November.
—Mr. and Mrs. Will Nighthart are rejoicing over a new member in their household. It made its appearance one day last week.
—Mrs. John J. Gibson nee Miss Blanche Cooke, of this place, is the mother of a fine daughter that was born on Tuesday.
—The chestnut crop is not near so large as it was thought it would be, and gatherers of the nuts are considerably disappointed.
—It is rumored that Thomas Shoemaker has purchased the Wilbur F. Reeder home corner of Allegheny and Curtin streets.
—Edward K. Rhoads purchased one of the prettiest and largest teams of black horses ever brought to Bellefonte. The horses were purchased at Centre Hill.
—William Larimer purchased "Baby K" with a record of 2:10 from William Hepburn of Jersey Shore. She is certainly a beauty and worth a pile of money.

—Another fellow sneaking around the hospital again bothering the nurses. Now this is not the first time we have mentioned this matter. Something certainly should be done to protect these young ladies.

—Mrs. Lillie G. Reeder Thursday moved her household goods from her home on north Allegheny street to a room on the third floor of the Reynolds building, expecting to make sale of the most of her furniture on Saturday, October 26th.

—James Harris, of Bellefonte, sold to Dr. H. F. Bitner the property opposite the Reporter's office, at Centre Hall, occupied by J. W. Mitterling, for the sum of $1,800. Dr. Bitner, upon retiring from his normal school work, expects to locate there.

—The Harvest Home and Roll Call will be held in the Baptist church at Milesburg Sunday morning and evening. Rev. Rathrop will be present. The Roll Call in the morning and the Harvest Home in the evening.

—Apples and potatoes are much sought after by buyers. They are bringing good money. Apples pass at from 45 to 55 cents to quality, and potatoes at from 55 to 60 cents. The latter crop has been affected by rot, making the handling of them both disagreeable and more than ordinarily risky.

—Ex-Sheriff D. W. Woodring is having extensive improvements made upon his property on East Howard street, which will greatly improve the appearance and value of the property. He has just finished having the entire house weather-boarded, and is now having a slate roof placed on the home, which when finished will make one of the most comfortable and at the same time attractive homes in that portion of the town.

—Miss Pearl L. Noll, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Noll, Jr., of Pleasant Gap, was married to Mr. Paul P. Brooke, of Altoona, Thursday. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Brooke, of Pleasant Gap, and is in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad in Altoona. The wedding was a very quiet one and quite a surprise to some of their acquaintances. They are at present on a honeymoon trip to the Jamestown exposition.

—About 4:45 o'clock Wednesday morning a coal oil stove in the laundry of the Garman House exploded and came within an ace of causing a big fire. The girl, doing the washing, threw water on the stove which spread the flame until a portion of the side walls was ablaze. James McCafferty ran in and by hard work succeeded in extinguishing the flames. It was doubtless caused by filling the stove too full of oil. The damage will amount to about $100.

—It might be well for our people to be on their guard against a swindler who operated quite successfully at Shamokin in the past week. He has been using a very clever substitution game with a pair of eye glasses. The man sells the eye glasses to the party, and by the way, the first pair are gold and fully worth the price paid for them, but the swindling part comes in a few days later, when after making a sale he returns to the party and asks to see the glasses, and while examining them he cleverly substitutes a worthless pair and leaves them with the victim.

—Charles Scott the renowned base ball player is confined to his home in Allegheny with a severe attack of typhoid fever.

—Mrs. Louis Hill was taken to the Bellefonte Hospital on Friday and for some cause was operated on Saturday. She is getting along nicely.

—Mrs. Reeder will have a private sale at her home on Allegheny street next Thursday afternoon and all day Friday. The public sale will be held on Saturday, 4-3.

—Clement Dale Esq. has moved his office from the second floor of the Centre County Bank to the first floor in the new brick building north of the Court House. Mr. Dale's new offices have been nicely repaired and painted. He is fully equipped for the practice of law and all business is trusted to his care will receive prompt attention.

—The four Pittsburg ladies who walked from the Smoky City to Bellefonte and then proceeded to Williamsport, returned to Lock Haven Tuesday morning and left for their homes over the Bald Eagle railroad Tuesday afternoon. They had intended going to Eagles Mere, but that summer resort has been closed for this season. They were accompanied on their travels by a Great Dane dog, which acted as their guardian.

—Mrs. John Holl who lives on Bishop street had a great large bake oven put in and now she makes the best home made bread, pies, rolls and cakes you ever tasted, and then she is also making delicious home made candy, some thing extra fine, the kind you read about. Mrs. Holl has a wonderful bread trade and if you taste her candies once you will always order from her. You can reach her home by using the Commercial telephone. Give her a call and we will convince you of the truth.

WEDDING BELLS RING OUT.

Miss Ida Orris Becomes the Wife of Mr. Edward L. Walker.

As the culmination of a little romance began about seven years ago Miss Julia Ida Orris was married Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock to Mr. Edward Lloyd Walker of New York City. It was a very quiet but pretty affair, the guests being but of the immediate families. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. E. E. Davis on East Linn Street, by the Rev. E. A. Pyles of Bellwood, who is a particular friend of both bride and groom. The bride wore a handsome gown of embroidered net over white silk and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Orris, a sister, wore a gown of similar description. She carried a large bouquet of ferns. The bridesmaids were Miss Marie White and Miss Madege Orris, both were dressed in white and carried pink roses and carnations. Three little flower girls made a path of roses for the bridal party. These little maids are nieces of the bride and certainly added beauty and color to the scene. They were Caroline Isabelle Orris of Bellwood, Mildred Irene Campbell of Tyrone and Mary Isabelle Davis of Bellefonte. Each were dressed in white, wearing different shades of ribbon, and carried large baskets of roses. The groom was in evening dress as was also his best man, Mr. K. E. Davis of Bellefonte. Mrs. C. D. Casebeer of Bellefonte played the beautiful strains of Mendelssohn's wedding March as the bridal party entered the room where the ceremony was performed. After a sumptuous wedding breakfast, the bride and groom left on the 8:16 train for Washington, D. C., Richmond and other southern cities. Upon their return they will go immediately to home-keeping at 13 Prospect Terrace, East Orange, New Jersey, where a furnished home awaits them.

Mr. Walker has his office on Broadway, New York, where he has charge of the drafting department of the Aqueduct Commission of New York City.

We extend our heartiest and best wishes to this happy young couple and hope their lives will be filled with sunshine and happiness. We have known the bride for years and always found her to be a young lady endowed with a kind, sweet disposition. This little wedding will be a great surprise to many as it has been a very quiet courtship.

William Gillen Dead.

On Monday morning at 6:30 the spirit life of William Gillen passed into the other world. Mr. Gillen has been ill for quite a long time and the cause of his death was due to a general breaking down of the system. He had passed his 83rd. birthday in life and when he came he was waiting for the summons to go home to rest.

For many years Mr. Gillen followed the occupation of a lumberman and at this business he was successful. He was born in Ireland.

He is survived by a kind loving wife and the following children, Mrs. William Doll and Edward of Bellefonte, August of Williamsport, and Charles of Dayton, Ohio. The funeral occurred on Wednesday morning at 9:30 from the Catholic church. Rev. Father McArdle officiate.

NITTANY VALLEY R. R. WINS IN COURT

On Wednesday morning the 16th the Nittany Valley Road through their attorneys, John G. Love and James A. B. Miller, applied to the Court for a "Writ of Assistance," which, after argument, the Court awarded. This Writ requires the sheriff to summon the necessary force in the way of deputies to put the Furnace Company out, and place the plaintiff in possession. This proceeding makes the action of the Furnace Company useless to them but of decided advantage to the Nittany Valley Railroad Company, as by this order the plaintiff is placed in possession of its right of way with all the improvements lately made by the Furnace Co. and Penna. R. R.

Judge McClure, of Lewisburg who formerly heard the case between the parties, presided at this hearing. It is to be hoped that all parties interested in this dispute will come to a clearer understanding of each others rights, so that nothing may arise in the future to interfere with the successful operation of this industry which contributes so much to the business interests of this community.

Last week we published an account of the Nittany Iron Company in tearing up the tracks of the Nittany Valley Railroad at their furnace, and with the aid of the Penna. Railroad Company replacing it with a siding of their own. Since then work has been progressing on this siding which extends from near Reynolds Mill, on up through the furnace yards and along the large chert heap. It was expected that an attempt would be made to remove this siding, and in consequence the builders guarded it right and day, and it was intimated they were prepared even to resist it by force. Fortunately no such clash occurred, and the merits of this controversy were wisely submitted to our courts for adjudication.

Dedication of St. John's Reformed Chapel.

Sunday was a day of splendid services for the people of St. John's Reformed church. In the morning at 10:30 the Sunday school and congregation assembled in the church to unite in a special service that led to the dedication of the chapel. After a sermon by the Rev. Thomas L. Bickel, of Philadelphia, in which he forcefully portrayed the beautiful and the useful in all that is good in this world. The pastor Rev. Ambrose M. Schmidt announced the gift of a handsome brass eagle Lectern. It was given to the congregation by Mrs. Chestie A. Harper in memory of her husband William Harper, then followed the consecration of the Lectern. The Treasurer Jared Harper announced that the new chapel was erected and furnished at a cost of about $6,500 and that other church improvements had cost nearly $300 making a total $6,800. Of this amount the congregation had paid $4,650 leaving a balance of $2,150 unpaid.

The pastor congratulated the congregation on the generous offerings they had already made and called for further subscriptions towards the remaining indebtedness. In a short while $700 were pledged, the consistency assuming the remainder of the indebtedness. The entire congregation then passed into the chapel where the formal dedicatory services were held. In the evening Rev. Bickel again preached. His evening sermon was a clear and practical presentation of the development and unfolding of christian character. At this service further subscriptions were taken making the total for the day $1,838. At both services the choir furnished special music and in the evening Mr. Dietrich's orchestra assisted.

The chapel is built of native sandstone and limestone trimmings. It is 47x45 feet in dimensions. The first floor is divided into a main auditorium with three class rooms which are separated by rolling partitions. There is also a work room for the Ladies Aid Society on this floor as well as library and toilet. Two sides of the chapel are surrounded by galleries which will be used for class rooms. The windows are very handsome and all of the first floor windows are the gifts of individuals or families. The wood work of the interior is a combination of pine and oak, the wainscoting is oak as well as the gallery balustrade. The Ladies Aid Society not only subscribed $2000 toward the chapel but they also furnished the handsome carpet that covers the floor. Chairs of appropriate designs are used for seating purposes.

In every way the congregation and Sunday school are to be congratulated on the fine and modern equipped building. Its beauty and completeness made it one of the best arranged Sunday school rooms in this section of the state. A steam boiler has been installed in the cellar that is used for heating both chapel and parsonage.

BEAUTIFUL HOME WEDDING.

Miss Anne V. Orvis and Mr. Clarence L. Arnold Married.

Thursday at 11 o'clock a beautiful but quiet wedding took place at the cozy residence of Judge and Mrs. Ellis L. Orvis, on Linn street. The interior of the house was tastefully decorated in pink and white, making a very pleasing and attractive appearance. The contracting parties were Miss Anne Valentine Lyon Orvis and the groom was Clarence Lumont Arnold, 1st Lieut. of the United States Navy. The nuptial event was solemnized in the library in the presence of about twenty-five guests, most of whom were relatives. At the appointed hour the approach of the bridal party was announced by Miss Clair Nicoll, cousin of the bride, of St. Davis, who sang Lohengrin's wedding march, the accompanist on the piano being her mother, Mrs. William Jasper Nicolls. As they entered the spacious parlor to the library the pretty and becoming bride was leaning on the arm of her father who at the altar gave her away. She was attired in a handsome gown of white voile trimmed in lace and wore a large white hat trimmed in plumes, and in her hand she carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The maid of honor was Miss Elizabeth Orvis, sister of the bride, who was attired in plain blue silk, with hat to match. The nuptial word was said by Dr. William Laurie, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church. Following the ceremony there was an informal reception held in which the happy couple were highly congratulated, and received the best wishes of all present. A wedding breakfast was then served after which Mr. and Mrs. Arnold took the afternoon train for a wedding tour. The groom is a young man of considerable intelligence, and his worth and ability have been recognized by the United States Marine service for a number of years which is a strong testimonial that he stands high with those in authority, in that department of the National Government. He just returned from a seven-year cruise on the battleship Washington, and was recently appointed Naval Inspector in the United States shipbuilding yards at Quincy, Boston. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orvis, and is a bright and amiable young lady, with a large number of friends who will wish her much happiness all through her wedded life.

A Cowardly Deed.

On Saturday evening a horse belonging to David Chambers of Clarence, while standing tied in front of John Uzzle's hotel at Snow Shoe, was stolen, and the animal driven in the direction of Moshannon. Mr. Chambers discovered the theft soon after its occurrence and followed in close pursuit. He, however, lost trace of the animal near the Moshannon bridge and returned to his home. On Sunday morning Mr. Chambers returned to the place where he had lost trace of the horse and buggy the night before and resumed the search. After several hours the horse and buggy were found along a pile of paper wood and props about 150 yards from the road. The animal was lying on its back with the buggy on top of it. The beast had become entangled in the harness and was so thoroughly fast that it was unable to move. After releasing it the veterinary found it terribly swollen and bruised, its shoes torn off and in a pitiable condition generally. The animal suffered until Wednesday morning when it died. The horse was valued at $250 and was an excellent driver.

Mr. Chambers has positive proof as to the perpetrator of the brutal deed and has issued a warrant for his arrest. As this is the third offense of this individual in the same direction, Mr. Chambers will see that he gets his just deserts when he is placed on trial.

Evangelistic Services.

A special series of Revival meetings will be formally opened the coming Sabbath in the Methodist Episcopal Church with a "Meeting For Men Only" at 3:30 p. m. All men of all classes are earnestly invited. A male choir will lead in the music and the Pastor will have "a heart to heart talk" with men.

The usual revival services will follow in the evening and during the week. The first week the Pastor will be ably assisted by some of the foremost ministers of this conference, a different preacher each night as follows:

Monday, Rev. J. H. Daugherty of Tyrone; Tuesday, Rev. H. L. Jacobs of Altoona; Wednesday, Rev. Alex. Lamberson; Thursday, G. M. Klepper of Altoona; Friday, Rev. E. A. Pyles of Bellwood. The second week of the meeting the Rev. M. C. Piper of Milesburg will assist the Pastor the entire week. The church for some weeks has been praying and planning for these meetings, and an unusual interest for the salvation and welfare of souls is hopefully anticipated. All are cordially invited to attend and participate in the Masters work. The pervading and dominating key-note of the meeting will be, "The Gospel in Sermon and Song, for the rescue and salvation of souls."

The out of town guests were Miss Jennie Crittenden of Waterbury, Conn., and Mrs. George Sherman Fret of Brooklyn, New York, sisters of the bride and Mrs. W. J. Stinson of Pittsburg, the groom's mother.

Awakening to Their Duty.

The good people of Centre Hall are thoroughly aroused to the necessity of breaking up petty thieving, and will insist that the violators be punished to the full extent of the law. It is humiliating to think that a community like this has tolerated this thieving during the past thirty or more years, but like the Sabbath Day violator the last straw has broken the camel's back, and we may look for better things in the future. This thief, if discovered, will be prosecuted, and back of this prosecution will be the united sentiment of this town and community that there shall be no leniency in the sentence imposed.

The people are awakening to their duty.
